

Camelot City Guide by Luke Boyes

Do you love crazy adventures? Do you want to live in the single best place on Earth? I'll tell you about a place that fits these bold and spectacular criteria. That place is the city of Camelot. This city has an amazing respected ruler, King Arthur. The king, who is very important, is adored by everyone in the land as I'm sure you know.

Crazy Camelot has a vast population – plenty of friends to make. But the city isn't just crazy... Just up the river is sleepy Shalott. One of the reasons it's so relaxing is because whenever you are up there, you can hear the beautiful, heart-warming sound of the mysterious fairy, who brings joy to the village. Excited? Read on to find out more about the greatest place on Earth...

Law and Order

Law and order isn't something Camelot takes lightly. In fact, it is the total opposite of that. Crimes have very severe and harsh consequences... But don't worry, the consequences are here to protect you, unless you commit crimes that is. Murder: if you commit murder then it is an eye for an eye, it the worst possible outcome – death! Mostly, from the very few murders a sharp, jagged sword is used for their execution. Kidnapping has also the same outcome, but different punishment, being buried alive. If within 30 minutes they are not dead God has showed they are innocent and will be let out. Pickpocketing results in the offender's hand being severed off. Not going to reach into someone's pocket again are they? Ha Ha! If you are burglar get ready to be dumped into the middle of the dark, creepy ocean because you messed up big time! When you disobey the law or anyone important (read on to find out who is important) it is let off on the first go, but second? That's a whole different story. Your organs will be pulled out whilst you are still alive. Law and order isn't first horrible though.

Obeying and going above and beyond the expectations could result with some really nice surprises. If you want to be knighted as I'm sure you do, then you have the chance to be knighted, this is one of the results of being over the top. But, you have to work hard for it. If you have a bad job, then you could end up a Burgher. However, first you will need an apprentice to teach you a skill. The burgher is one of the top status's in the beautiful and wild Camelot.

The River

As I'm sure you've been waiting to know about the river since the introduction I am finally going to tell you about it. The part of the guide about the best city in history and we are at the river section now. First things first: do not swim in the river, it is full to the brim with diseases from waste products. If you want to go for a swim head north, up there is a massive pool so you and your families can have endless fun. Back to the river then. The massive water stream is home to the immense docking port which allows Camelot to get everything it needs with ease.

The Knights

The Knights that protect the beautiful Camelot are some of the most important people in the city, after King Arthur of course. They are recognisable from their gleaming armour, however when they aren't in their armour they are barely noticeable. It isn't likely you will come across someone who is a Knight. But this isn't because there aren't a lot of them it is because they don't always wear their armour. The main Knight is a man called Sir Lancelot. The man who is described as the bearded meteor.

Food

There's no way you don't like the food here! Camelot is home to hundreds of restaurants. Here are some of the best: Pete's Pizzas, Bob's Burgers, Kirsty's Kebabs, Phil's Pasta, Micky Maki's Mac'n Cheese, Billy's Bacon Sandwiches, Frank's Fruit, Sally's Salad and Colin's Cake. If you're looking for world class food, Camelot is just the place for you! Did you know Pete's Pizzas has served over 10,000 people!?

The Isle of Shalott

Shalott is by far the most peaceful place you can go in and around Camelot. It is also where people hear a so-called fairy. In the area surrounding the small castle in Shalott there are flattering flowers. Also, the castle is thought to be where the mysterious singing is coming from. Shalott is in general an amazing place to go and relax.

Conclusion

In conclusion Camelot is the number one place to make amazing, long lasting memories and to have the best possible life.
